

Anthony Stephan

US Head of Deloitte Digital

Anthony is the US Head of Deloitte Digital where he focuses on inspiring businesses to create value that elevates the human experience.

Prior to leading the Customer and Marketing team, he served as the National Leader for the Technology Strategy & Transformation practice. For more than 25 years, he has led businesses to reimagine the future of technology through strategic growth initiatives. He is consistently challenging himself and others to achieve results beyond expectations.

Anthony received a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Marketing from Albright College. He enjoys volunteering and spending time with his family.