WorkforceX

WorkforceX is Deloitte's enterprise platform that delivers personalised digital transformation experiences to meet each client's unique business challenges.

Create efficiency and impact by engaging and connecting people through change, simplifying digital touchpoints and leveraging a suite of tech features with pre-built solutions and accelerators.

Empower your business with WorkforceX, the single platform you need in your digital evolution.

FEATURES

Experience Design

Create powerful content using the integrated media library, editor and publishing functionality, to leverage engaging pre-built templates and bite-sized learning that accelerates digital adoption.

Collaborative Communication

Communicate and share content through email, app, social and other channels to enable collaboration, feedback and engagement across your organisation.

Pulse Checks

Send pulse checks to monitor employee engagement, business readiness and targeted organisational focus areas, supported by real time analytics and insights to inform actions and strategy.

Integration Capability

Connect the systems and tools in your technology landscape, making it easier navigate your digital ecosystem from a single platform.

Mini Apps

Build custom 'mini' applications to extend business process optimisation using a configurable app component suite that can be deployed fast, streamlining technology deployment and support.

Centralised Notifications

Simplify the notification experience across various platforms so all notifications are received and actioned in one place, enabling efficient task management and productivity.

BENEFITS

Increase engagement and adoption using a repeatable process, measured through real time behavioural analytics, AI insights and enterprise reporting accessible via dashboards.

Increase mobility by allowing employees flexibility to select how and when they interact with the platform, using either Desktop or Mobile App.

Increase efficiency and productivity to reduce the time and complexity to complete tasks by accessing enterprise systems, tools and communications through a single digital 'front door'.

Elevate experience through simple, seamless and engaging delivery of digital experiences using a single platform that can evolve with business needs, for whatever's next.
